Question	Answer
Should manufacturers have different offers between the AMC countries and SFCs?	COVAX is aiming to achieve the lowest price on the market given its principle of fair and equitable access to COVID-19 vaccines. Manufacturers are encouraged to provide price offers considering this principle. It is not necessary for manufacturers to offer different prices for different country groups. Should tiered pricing be offered, it will be allowed for no more than three groupings: AMC 92, upper middle-income countries, and high-income countries.
