1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Objective of the RFP

The purpose of this Request for Proposal (RFP) is to enter into a contractual agreement with a successful bidder and select a suitable contractor to carry out task the development and maintenance of the AIDS Data Repository.

The overall objective of this consultancy is further the concept of the AIDS Data Repository building in additional features and strengthening the link to other software that allows countries to capably use their HIV data to improve their HIV response. Additional requirements include the maintenance of ADR and support for training countries on the use of ADR.

UNAIDS will enter into a Long-Term Agreement with each suitable contractor that will be valid for a period of 5 years. UNAIDS is an organization that is dependent on the budgetary and extra-budgetary contributions it receives for the implementation of its activities. Bidders are therefore requested to propose the best and most cost-effective solution to meet UNAIDS requirements, while ensuring a high level of service.

For more information about UNAIDS please consult our website www.unaids.org.

1.3 Work to be performed

1.3.1 Key requirements

Background

UNAIDS supports countries to estimate the impact of HIV on their populations. These epidemiological estimates are created using mathematical models that require granular data disaggregated geographically and by age and sex. Compiling and maintain the disaggregated data requires considerable time and effort of literally hundreds of data points for each variable and the age-, sex-, geographic-specific combination. Countries struggle to maintain a central database of their national HIV surveillance data, including the antenatal clinics sentinel surveillance data, survey data, HIV services data and other key information that is sometimes lost when national systems are overhauled, or key data managers move positions. In addition, there is tremendous value to have interoperability of data between the health information systems and the different models used to produce estimates.

In 2018 UNAIDS launched the AIDS Data Repository (ADR) to support countries to store, extract, format, validate, and feed the models required to produce epidemiological estimates. The ADR is a service UNAIDS offers for free to countries. Country HIV estimates teams chose a manager to handle access to the repository ensuring confidentiality. The current version of the software is available at ADR.unaids.org. The number of countries using ADR has consistently grown over the past three years; currently 40 countries rely on the ADR to manage their data and to feed validated, formatted data into the district-level Naomi model.

One of the unique features of this software is the interoperability. Using required passwords, ADR can link to the District Health Information System (DHIS2) -- used in many countries -- to extract data required for the HIV models. ADR further validates the data and formats the data as required by the models. For countries without DHIS, the ADR can still validate uploaded files to check format of the data and interacts with different tools to ensure data quality. Once the data required for the models are in ADR, the model software can pull the required data to run the district model. Data currently required for the model include the following at district level: geographic shape, population data, survey results, number of people on ART, ANC prevalence. Additional data on HIV testing and voluntary medical male circumcision are also stored in the model for use in other models.

The database simplifies interactions with models to process and produce up-to-date estimates for the Naomi district level estimates model. The Spectrum model is currently being refined to have interoperability capacities with ADR as well.

The value of the AIDS Data Repository is clear. In a recent assessment all respondents mentioned the tremendous value and benefits of having the ADR for the estimates processes.

UNAIDS expects the requirements for models to become more complex going forward. As models require more granular data on different populations. We expect to role out ADR to additional countries and to build in additional capacities such as further validation of models and data to improve the entire estimates process.

For this reason, UNAIDS is looking for a long-term agreement to support the development and maintenance of the ADR. Flexibility in the development and use of the tool will be critical.

Budget

Based on previous contracts, we estimate the work required would be 2 Full time equivalent. Due to the compressed timeline of the estimates, it is expected that at some times of the year additional support will be required, so a flexible workforce is expected.

Deliverables

1. A service that maintains the AIDS Data Repository and the interoperability with other modelling software and is free to HIV estimates teams
2. Ensure functionality of the AIDS Data Repository – a system currently built on CKAN software
3. Ensure confidentiality of the data on the systems and the information of the users of the system
4. Attend fortnightly meetings to coordinate with UNAIDS and modelers on the functions of the tool
5. Identify efficiencies through the use of existing code and functionality from CKAN and other software systems
6. Ensure the software is compliant with existing, relevant standards
7. Ensure a user-friendly experience with a clear interface
8. Support estimates workshop to train users on the ADR (approximately 2 weeks)
9. Support integration/sharing of data between ADR and national health data visualization tools, such as “health situation rooms”.

1.3.2 Reporting requirements

Over the course of the contract six-monthly reporting will be required including the routine meetings every fortnight. Technical reports should include summaries of the upgrades made to the software and the location of the code used to produce that software.

1.3.3 Finance and accounting requirements

A financial report is required every six months over the course of the contract to initiate payment.

1.3.4 Performance monitoring

In addition to the meetings every fortnight, a shared list of priority updates to the software will be managed jointly by UNAIDS and the contractor. Through this list progress toward an operational and well-maintained AIDS Data Repository will be monitored with clear decisions made and documented.

Progress will also be monitored based on the six-monthly reports.

Key milestones will be reached every November at the release of the updated AIDS Data Repository for the new round of HIV epidemiological estimates.

1.3.5 Further Capacities

No additional capacities required

3. OPENING AND EVALUATION OF PROPOSALS

3.1 Opening of Proposals

UNAIDS will open the technical proposals in the presence of a Committee formed by UNAIDS at the Headquarters office in Geneva, Switzerland on a date fixed after the closing of the tendering period. Each technical proposal will be opened during the session with each bidder announced. Financial proposals will be opened only after the technical evaluation of the proposals.

A public opening of bids will be carried on 30 June at 9:00 in the UNAIDS premises. Bidders wishing to attend the session (at their own cost) should inform UNAIDS in advance via email (to the address specified in section 2.6) if they plan to attend; only bidders or named representatives are allowed. Non-attendance has no implication on the evaluation of the bids.

3.2 Clarification of Proposals

UNAIDS may, at its discretion, ask any bidder for clarification of any part of its proposal to assist in the examination, evaluation and comparison of proposals. The request for clarification and the response shall be in writing. No change in price or substance of the proposal shall be sought, offered or permitted during this exchange.

3.3 Preliminary Examination of Proposals

UNAIDS will examine the proposals to determine whether: (i) they are complete, (ii) any computational errors have been made, (iii) the documents have been properly signed, and (iv) the proposals are generally in order.

Please note that UNAIDS is not bound to select any of the firms/institutions submitting proposals. Furthermore, since a contract would be awarded in respect of the proposal which is considered most responsive to the needs of the project concerned, due consideration being given to UNAIDS' general principles, including economy and efficiency, UNAIDS does not bind itself in any way to select the firm/institution offering the lowest price.

3.4 Technical Evaluation of Proposals

A two-stage procedure will be utilized in evaluating the proposals, with technical evaluation of the proposal being completed prior to any evaluation of the Financial Proposal.

The technical evaluation of proposals will be accomplished by a selection panel. The selection panel will evaluate all proposals which have passed the preliminary examination of proposals according to:

- the quality of the overall proposal (5 Points);
- the appropriateness of the proposed approach (10 Points);
- the quality of the technical solution proposed (10 Points);
- the management strategy/plan detailed in the document (5 Points);
- the experience of the firm in carrying out related projects (10 Points);
- the qualifications and competence of the personnel proposed for the assignment (10 Points);
- the proposed timeframe for the project (10 Points);

The obtainable number of points specified for each evaluation criterion indicates the relative significance or weight of the item in the overall evaluation process. The points allocated to the technical proposal correspond to 60% of the total obtainable points.

3.5 Financial Proposal Evaluation

The financial proposal will only be evaluated if the technical proposal achieves a minimum of 60% of the total allocable points for the technical evaluation. Proposals failing to obtain this minimum threshold will not be eligible for further consideration.

The maximum number of points for the price component is 40% of the total obtainable points.

This maximum number of points will be allocated to the lowest price proposal. All other price proposals will receive points in inverse proportion according to the following formula:

Points for the price component of a proposal being evaluated = $\left(\frac{\text{[Maximum number of points for the price component]}}{\text{[Lowest price]} / \text{[Price of proposal being evaluated]}} \right)$

3.6 Bidders' Presentations

At the discretion of UNAIDS, selected bidders may be invited to supply additional information on the contents of their proposal during the evaluation period. Such bidders could be asked to give a presentation of their proposal (possibly with an emphasis on a topic of UNAIDS's choice) followed by a question and answer session. If UNAIDS determines that there is such a need, the presentation will be held at UNAIDS Headquarters in Geneva, or by videoconference/Internet. Bidders will be given reasonable time to prepare for the presentation.

NOTE: Presentations or other individual contact is expressly prohibited before the closing date for proposal submission.

4. AWARD OF CONTRACT

4.1 Award Criteria, Award of Contract

UNAIDS reserves the right to:

- a) Award the contract to a bidder of its choice, even if its bid is not the lowest;
- b) Award separate contracts for parts of the work, components or items, to one or more bidders of its choice, even if their bids are not the lowest;
