1. Purpose of the APW

The purpose of this decade evaluation report is to assess the achievements made in NCDs prevention and management in the WHO Africa region from 2011 to 2021, as well as the lessons learned throughout implementation of the NCD-GAP by Member States, WHO, other international partners and non-state actors.

The specific objectives are:

- To assess and highlight the burden of NCDs in the African Region.
- To document successes, challenges, and gaps in the implementation of the NCD-GAP since 2011 in the African region.

Noncommunicable diseases (NCDs) were responsible for 74% of global deaths in 2019. Yet awareness of this burden within and outside the public health community is far lower than it should be. To see progress in combatting the spread of NCDs, and offer an opportunity to learn from the experience, it is critical to raise global and regional awareness of the challenge they present, and of the existence of effective ways to protect individuals and populations.

Advocacy is a key component of strengthening the global and regional response to NCDs, and a global and regional advocacy report highlighting the data and unpacking options for action will be a valuable resource. It will also support global and national monitoring of progress in the fight against NCDs. With a decade regional report on NCDs to be launched at the end 2022, this report will act as an additional resource to strengthen public awareness of NCDs and encourage countries to implement commitments.
