PROJECT DETAIL

Project Background

- ❖ The Power Development Plan (PDP) VIII highlights the priority of developing localised supply chains in Viet Nam to facilitate the energy transition while concurrently improving the economy.
- ❖ Recognising this imperative and Viet Nam's abundant mineral reserves and production capabilities as crucial assets for the energy transition, this project strategically concentrates on innovating the upstream and downstream batteries' supply chains to support the development and integration of key distributed energy resources (DERs), including electric vehicles (EVs), photovoltaics (PVs), and electrical storage systems (ESSs), ensuring their effective contribution to the energy landscape in Viet Nam.

Objectives

- i. To comprehensively analyse and evaluate the key actors and development partners involved in the batteries' supply chain globally and in Viet Nam;
- ii. To evaluate the Viet Nam's existing battery supply chain in the context of developing and integrating EVs, solar PVs, and BESS and assess its readiness level towards national plans' target and MPI's target;
- iii. To conduct an environmental and social impact assessment of the battery's supply chain;
- iv. To identify factors and knowledge gaps crucial to the successful implementation of the upstream and downstream supply chain of batteries for EV and solar PV market development;
- v. To provide guidance and implementation plan for relevant stakeholders, including governmental entities, industry associations, private sector, and so on;
- vi. To develop a comprehensive roadmap and recommendation for future policies and regulations to address the impediments and to create an implementation plan that will integrate upstream and downstream supply chain of batteries to support the development and integration of EV, and solar PVs.
- vii. To assist stakeholders in gauging financial and operational viability, developing strategies to adapt to the changing market, and exploring opportunities to accelerate energy transition through battery, EV, and solar PV ecosystem development.

Main Outputs

1. A literature review of global batteries' supply chain to pinpoint best practices for Viet Nam and potential strategic partners for diversifying the supply chain
2. A comprehensive understanding of the supply chain of batteries, EVs, solar PVs, and other related industries to justify and drive investments;
3. An Environmental and Social Impact Assessment (ESIA) related to the supply chain of batteries, and proposed solutions for social and environmental challenges encountered along the supply chain.
4. A comprehensive roadmap and guide to support the potential investors, stakeholders, and the government in accelerating energy transition through batteries for EV, solar PV ecosystem development
